Paul Tripp and James MacDonald left the Board in July and August 2014.

Mark Driscoll resigned Oct 15, 2014. The Board of Overseers you sat on (Jon Phelps, Larry Osborne, Michael Van Skaik, and Matt Rogers) did not think he should resign. (The Board of Elders did). Matt Rogers had led the investigation.

I see that you are by yourself trying to help your old friend Mark Driscoll who has helped you in the past. I also see that you are quite conspicuously the only one who does not see his faults. Acts 29, the Board of Elders, Paul Tripp, James MacDonald, all distanced themselves.

So, that is why there will be backlash that you have invited Mark Driscoll to your October 2020 Sticky Teams conference. People remember his anonymous crude comments in 2000,

Mark Driscoll had a history of bullying, unethical, foolish behavior as a pastor over 20 years. He should find another job besides being a pastor. If he chooses to put up a website and rent a building, then you should not promote it by having him to your conference.

Thread with reactions to this below.

I have put "evangelical" in parenthesis because people increasingly do not use the term because it is so associated with politics. They would have used the term in the past to express their high regard for the Bible and conviction that Jesus is "good news" (Greek: euangelion).

English professor at "evangelical" university Oklahoma Baptist and writer:

We're expecting the CJEU ruling in Wightman - on whether the UK could rescind the Article 50 notification unilaterally - around 8am UK time. Some thoughts on what to look for. First of all, the Court will have to rule on the UK's objection that this case is hypothetical.

If it agrees with the UK, that's it: there will be no ruling on the merits. There's a line of case law on this, in which there's a presumption that a case is not hypothetical, with the Court usually giving deference to national courts' view that their
