1. Most important is to be caring for the dying, sick, hungry, unemployed, lonely, fearful, and children.
2. And also provide or curate programming online including worship services. And eventually provide safe physically-distanced options.

The above is my general advice. Now I also see your whole thread. Yes, care for the outsider is crucial. Yes, also we take care not to spread the virus in nursing homes or prisons; nor by gathering groups of vulnerable without masks and have them sing, which is a big spreader.

I would also add that Christians should be advocating for the poor @RevDrBarber the prisoner @ScottHech for nursing homes @maddow the refugee @roamingwab and for aid for the developing world @matthew_loftus @bertrand_blair and Puerto Rico @CarlosHappyNPO

Update,
Lots of folks asked how Alpha online is going. We took a risk & did a group every night of the week.

It's honestly going so well we had to add 2 additional groups. People are hungry & searching.
In the midst of the need to care there are opportunities for the gospel

I deleted this comment on Instagram and Twitter because I see that Sean Feucht did not set up the stage. Organizers: facebook.com/groups/6257129... Locals: Curtis Farrar and Alfonzo Williams of Worldwide Outreach Ministries. foxnews.com/us/floyd-minne...?, reuters.com/article/us-min...

A little research into those involved with the worship and preaching at the site of George Floyd's death. Curtis Farrar pastors a small church on the corner where George Floyd was

So the story tonight in Minneapolis, (perhaps because I follow many journalists) is media getting shot with rubber bullets, gassed, and arrested as they get between protesters and police. (Many media were terrified of the mayhem without police presence the last two nights).

wherever they want because of their press credentials. I think there is legitimate confusion going on here on both sides.
